(b) if so, the details thereof and by when these are likely to be lifted; and

(c) if not, whether these issues are likely to be raised during the forthcoming President Clinton's India visit for the sake of qulitative improvment in Indo-US relations?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI AJIT KUMAR PANJA): (a) and (b) In partial exercise of the waiver authority under the Defence Appropriations Act 2000, the US lifted restrictions on 27th October 1999, on US EXIM Bank, OPIC and TDA activities; International Military Education and Training Programme (IMET); the lending by US Banks to the Government of India; credit and financial assistance by Department of Agriculture to support the purchase of food; and, certain assistance for Wild Life Conservation and Environmental Projects On 15th December, the US also announced removal of 51 organisations from the list of over 200 Indian Government organisations, research institutions, public sector units and private companies — the so called the Entities List published in November 1998 — which were subjected to tighter export restrictions.

The US continues to maintain restrictions with regard to nonhumanitarian lending by International Financial Institutions and on export of defence-related and dual use goods and technology.

The US has not indicated the time frame for lifting the remaining restrictions.

(c) Both sides agree that the forthcoming visit of President Clinton to India provides an opportunity to pave the way for a qualitatively new and closer relationship. The two sides will discuss all issues of mutual concerns, including US restrictions against India. It has been Government's consistent view that all unilateral restrictions against India are counter-productive and should be completely lifted.
